Art Unit: 3711

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, & 8-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parsons 5,348,297 (newly cited) in view of Martin.

Parsons shows an appliance having tubular members of different shape, each reduced in diameter from one end to the other, and combined to be extended and retracted. It does not appear that the inner and outer surfaces include a lock to hold the members extended; a lock would be desirable to hold the members so the appliance will not collapse easily. For example, Martin shows that a structure made of telescoping members may include a projecting portion 18a on one member, and a recess 19b on the adjacent member, to hold the members extended. This projecting portion and recessed portion would be an obvious addition to the appliance of Parsons. Although Parsons does not disclose that the device may be used as a beating appliance for cheering, it would be capable of this use.

Parsons shows a head cap 4 at the end of the maximum diameter member, and a grip 12 at the end of the minimum diameter member. The device is held retracted by locking one end of the minimum diameter member by a portion 6 of the head cap.

Claims 5-7, & 12-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
